Court Prep for Medical and Legal Professionals

The intersection of law and medicine can be quite challenging and, at times, daunting for both professions. In child abuse cases, navigating this uncomfortable territory is the rule rather than the exception. Medical care providers are often anxious about going to court and frequently feel ill prepared. Attorneys are often faced with the interpretation of specialized medical data, obfuscating expert witnesses and inaccessible medical providers. By combining medical and legal faculty in an exciting new training, we hope to address these concerns.

Content to be covered: The medical training will consist of the role of the medical provider, abusive head, abdominal and cutaneous trauma, Guidelines and Standards of Care for Possible SA Victims, Genital Findings, Testifying as a Medical Expert, Hearsay, Memory and Suggestibility and a Mock Trial.

The legal training will consist of opening statements/closing arguments, discussion of corroborating evidence, ethical considerations, pretrial motions, direct and cross examination of witnesses, preparing children for court, the role of the medical provider, abusive head, abdominal and cutaneous trauma, child sexual abuse, and also a Mock Trial.

Target Audience: This training is designed for a medical and legal team. This will be a great opportunity for a CAC medical professional and prosecutor to work together to understand each other's roles, and to be an effective team in the Court Room. Preference will be given to legal/medical teams over individuals.

Length: This is a three-day training sponsored by The Midwest Regional Children's Advocacy Center (MRCAC) and the Western Regional Children's Advocacy Center (WRCAC) in collaboration with the National District Attorney's Association (NDAA). CLE/CME hours are given for this course.

Cost: $49.00 tuition, Airfare and Lodging

PEER REVIEW RESOURCES

Midwest Regional CAC Peer Review:

The purpose of peer review of medical findings will be to provide the opportunity for participants to review documentation, discuss interpretation of findings, and provide feedback regarding the quality of documentation. This initiative is primarily for the medical providers, however, other team members may choose to participate as well.

Goals of Medical Peer Review

- To enhance the quality of documentation of physical findings in cases of suspected child abuse.
- To provide the opportunity to discuss findings and interpretation of findings in cases of suspected child abuse or neglect.
- To increase the knowledge of medical providers in Children's Advocacy Centers nationally.
- To provide an opportunity to discuss cases of suspected child abuse and neglect in multi-user national, multi-user regional as well as point-to-point connections.

Medical Peer Review occurs monthly. Sites are asked to select the date and time from the listed options that best fits their schedules. The Midwest Regional CAC will finalize the group selection so as to adhere to the appropriate group size.

Sites participating in this initiative will be required to present a case approximately every three months. Sites who are not scheduled to present, but have an urgent need for a case consultation may contact the Midwest Regional CAC who will provide the final agenda for the calls. In addition, the Midwest Regional CAC will work with the presenting sites to provide input on case selection as well as to be sure any technical questions can be addressed prior to the start of the call. This will allow the goals for the call to be top priority. Typically, each call will have 2 case presentations lasting 25 minutes each. Each session will last one hour. Following will be the agenda for this peer review session.

Cost: $100/child advocacy center

You may also want to check with other leading medical providers in your state or institution to organize your own institution wide peer review.
